MEETING OF ALL WOMEN OF CITY TO CONSIDER HOSPITAL AID SOCIETY

At Kiwanis Club Rooms, Carnegie Library, Next Monday Afternoon.

SITUATION TO BE EXPLAINED

By Dr. W. J. Bailey, Trustee of College Hospital, and Mrs. L. C. Work, President of Uptown Hospital Aid Opportunity to Show Interest.

With a view to ascertaining to what extent the women of the city have become interested in the suggestion to organize a woman's auxiliary to the Connellsville Hospital Association and to learn how many of them can be depended upon to go along on the proposition and give it their unqualified support and cooperation take a real part in its activities and thereby assure its success as much-needed agency, a meeting of all the women of the city will be held in the Kiwanis Club rooms, basement of the Carnegie Library, next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

In order that the project in all its phases may be thoroughly understood before definite action is taken in the direction of effecting an organization, the meeting will be addressed by persons who are entirely familiar with hospital administration and the operation of women's aid associations.

Dr. W. J. Bailey, a member of the board of trustees of the College State Hospital and who has served as member of the medical staff for many years, and who is familiar with all the details of the hospital situation in Connellsville, will give a talk the object of which will be to present the needs which must be met in any effort to provide this section with adequate hospital facilities. He will also explain in what respects and to what extent a woman's aid society could be helpful to the hospital.

Mrs. L. C. Work, who has been active in the work of the women's aid society in the Uptown Hospital for many years, will be in attendance to tell the women assembled how the organization of which she is president as functioned and explaining the various means by which funds are raised to defray the hospital and other expenses of the hospital and also other interesting details with respect to the society's organization and administration.

In addition to be present at the meeting on Monday afternoon is extended through the Courier to every woman in Connellsville irrespective of church, gender or other affiliations the aim being to make a gathering truly representative of the community interested or even in a project which has to do with the lot of suffering and the care of those who become ill and which in all respects is non-sectarian and non-denominational in its membership and activities in the Red Cross.

No other form of relief for the protection of the women of the city at the meeting will be made if having been decided that the scope of the plan is so large and the number of women identified with the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish churches and fraternal and other organizations is so large that a list of all of them could not possibly be compiled in order to mail a formal invitation to each. Moreover, to do so would involve an expense which it is best not should be avoided.

If the meeting on Monday shows that the women of the city really are interested and are willing to join hands in making a woman's auxiliary an active, going concern and doing something, it will be up to the officers of the organization and to call all members.

The women have therefore the opportunity that friends of the hospital long have hoped would be based upon the privilege that institution is the same kind of an organization that is the force to possess of the people in their place of residence which is smaller than Connellsville.

MISS HELEN K. SCHULER IS

BRIDE OF WILLIAM J. KING

A church wedding of charming appointments was that of Miss Helen Katharine Schuler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Schuler of East Cedar avenue, and William J. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony R. Kluk, solemnized on Thanksgiving morning at 8 o'clock in the Immaculate Conception Church. Nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Henry Cebel, the church pastor, in the presence of relatives and many friends of the bride and groom. Miss Anna Cebel, the church organist, played the wedding march as the bridal party entered the church and was the accompanist for "The Wedding Hymn to the Sacred Heart" sung during the mass by Mrs. James DeOro and for "Ave Maris" sung at the offertory by F. V. Neuroth. The church altar was attractively decorated with white chrysanthemums, forming a pretty background for the bridal party. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white duckies satin, embroidered in seed pearls, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses, carnations and white lilies. Her veil of embroidered tulle was held in place with a band of pearls and clusters of orange blossoms. Miss Anna Schuler, her sister's bridesmaid, wore an attractive gown of orchid chiffon and a large pleated belt of black satin. She carried an arm bouquet of orchid rose poms. Lawrence A. Kluk served as his brother's best man. The ceremony at the church was supplemented by a beautifully appointed wedding breakfast in the Schuler residence, covers being laid for only the members of the two families. A color scheme of pink and white predominated. The center of the table held a large wedding cake, while at either end of the table were baskets of chrysanthemums. The favors were little buckets filled with candy, and to which were attached miniature brides and grooms. A reception was held from 2:30 to 6 o'clock in the new home of the bride and groom in Highland avenue. Last night Mr. and Mrs. Alessandrin left for a wedding trip to Atlantic City, Philadelphia, and other eastern cities. The bridegroom is employed by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company.

CORRADO-ALESSANDRINI IS

EVENT OF THANKSGIVING

St. Rita's Catholic Church in First street, West Side, was the scene of an unusually pretty wedding on Thanksgiving morning at 9 o'clock when Miss Rachael Corrado, daughter of Mrs. Mary Gigliotti of Fayette street, was united in marriage to Angelo Alessandrin of this city. Rev. Father Harry DeVito officiated. The ceremony was witnessed by many guests, including relatives and friends of the two families. The bride wore a lace gown of ivory crepe satin, beautifully draped and caught with a cabochon of ostrich and pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her veil of tulle, arranged in cap effect, was held in place with a band of pearls and orange blossoms. She wore the bridegroom's gift, a strand of pearls. Miss Frances Megaro, the bride's maid of honor, wore pouch colored georgette crepe and a hat to correspond. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses. Charles Panella served as Mr. Alessandrin's best man. As the bridal party entered the church the wedding march was played by Miss Jennie Gaudelli. Mrs. A. V. Corrado and Miss Antoinette Palone sang during the mass. The altar of the church was decorated with cut flowers. Following this ceremony at the church a prettily appointed wedding breakfast was served in the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gaetano Corrado, with whom she made her home for the past few years, in East Fairview avenue. A color scheme of pink and white predominated. The center of the table held a large wedding cake, while at either end of the table were baskets of chrysanthemums. The favors were little buckets filled with candy, and to which were attached miniature brides and grooms. A reception was held from 2:30 to 6 o'clock in the new home of the bride and groom in Highland avenue. Last night Mr. and Mrs. Alessandrin left for a wedding trip to Atlantic City, Philadelphia, and other eastern cities. The bridegroom is employed by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company.

BY-PRODUCT COKE MADE A FURTHER GAIN IN OUTPUT

October Total Was 2,899,000
Tons, Increase of 10.3 Per Cent Over Sept.

68 PLANTS WERE ACTIVE

The monthly report of the United States Geological Survey states that the continued improvement in the iron and steel market has carried with it the output of coke. The production of by-product coke for October was 2,899,000 net tons, against 2,513,000 tons in September. The daily rate of production during October was 93,526 tons, an increase of 10.3 per cent over the September rate. The plants operated at 74.1 per cent of capacity. Out of 75 plants now in existence in the country 68 were active and seven idle.

As forecast by the weekly returns of railroad shipments, the output of beehive coke also increased. The total for the month of October is placed at 631,000 tons, or 2.0 per cent greater than the figure for September.

The total production of all coke in October thus reached 3,530,000 tons, the largest in any month since last May, when the depression suddenly affected the steel industry. In comparison with the monthly average of 4,748,000 tons during the record year 1923, however, the present rate of output still shows a decrease of 25.5 per cent.

Exclusive of screenings and breeze the monthly average production of coke in each of the four years, 1920-1923 inclusive, and the last four months of 1924 was as follows:

Year	By-Product Beehive
1920	2,605,000
1921	1,494,000
1922	2,870,000
1923	2,513,000
July, 1924	2,307,000
August, 1924	2,446,000
September, 1924	2,643,000
October, 1924	2,899,000

It is estimated that the by-product ovens consumed in October about 4,160,000 tons of coal and that the beehive ovens consumed 955,000 tons, a total of 5,161,000. In comparison with the month of July, when the recent depression reached its lowest point, the October rate of consumption shows an increase of 1,025,000 tons.

Assuming a yield in merchantable coke of 92.6 per cent of the coal charged in by-product ovens and 68.4 per cent in beehive ovens the consumption of coal during 1920-1923, inclusive, and the last four months of 1924, has been as follows:

Year	By-Product Beehive
1920	2,681,000
1921	2,401,000
1922	2,121,000
1923	2,071,000
July, 1924	2,051,000
August, 1924	2,151,000
September, 1924	2,654,000
October, 1924	2,899,000

That increased activity in iron and steel manufacture is the principal factor in the rising output of by-product coke is seen from the fact that the production of plants affiliated with iron furnaces has increased from 78.5 per cent of a total in August to 82.9 per cent in October, an increase of three-tenths per cent over the average during 1923.

Only an Antique

Leonda, a colored maid, had a taste for lofty ideas and high-sounding words. One of the members of the family in which she served was a tall elderly lady of imposing figure and fine carriage.

One day after Leonda had performed the hundredth time expressed to the lady her great admiration for her handsome figure the object of her pride exclaimed, "Why do you say so much about my appearance, Leonda? I am only an antique."

"What is that?" asked Leonda in amazement.

The lady explained to her, "Well," Leonda burst forth, "if that is what you are now, you surely is a powerful indication of what you has been."—Youth's Companion.

In Something of a Hurry

Every trade has its stock of well-known yarns, but occasionally a new one does occur, only, alas, in time to become a classic. A certain well-known newspaper man was holding forth to a group of writers, among whom was a rather famous novelist. The journalist was saying that he had recently been engaged in revising the obituaries held in readiness by his paper. Turning to the novelist, he added joyfully: "I've just been writing you up."

But the novelist, apparently, had not been following very closely, and walking up with a start, he asked eagerly: "When is it going to be published?"

Engelman Spruce Valuable

In its fullest development, Engelman spruce becomes a large tree, a hundred feet or more in height and three feet or more in diameter, with a smooth, straight and only slightly tapered trunk. Great quantities of Engelman spruce are cut for lumber. The wood is soft and straight-grained and is used for various construction purposes, as telegraph and telephone poles, as mine timbers, for the construction of log buildings, and to some extent as timber for interior finish. In contrast with the only other spruce in Rocky Mountain National Park, Engelman spruce is of considerable importance commercially.

New Breakfast Caps

Don't forget that breakfast caps are among the lovely things that women expect at Christmas. Of the two shown here, the one at the top is of lace and ribbon, with frills of pink, plaid chiffon over the ears. The other is of net and lace with a ruff of lace over the nape of the neck, a ruff of ribbon at the front and knot and ends of it at the sides.

Pullets that are small for their age and apparently lacking in vigor are seldom profitable.

FRIDAY EVENING, NOV. 26, 1926.

CONGRATULATIONS AND APPRECIATION.

None will be more cordial and sincere in their congratulations to the DuBois Township High School football team, its coaches, school staff and great army of fans, than the members of the Connellsville High School team, its coaches, school staff, and the citizens of Connellsville who so constantly encouraged the home gridiron to their best efforts in the face of great obstacles and discouragements throughout the season.

In a game in which the contending teams gave a clean-cut exhibition of modern high school football, played in the presence of the largest, most enthusiastic and best natured and behaved crowd of fans ever attending a game in Connellsville, there was more in the test of skill and prowess on the gridiron than the scoring of 13 points by the visiting team to six by the home team. These points determined the former to be the winner by a decisive margin but in those particulars in which no method or scoring points could be applied both teams were big winners.

Without the display previous to the final game of the season of good sportsmanship by both teams, and particularly the university-like spirit of the losing C. H. S. eleven, it would never have been possible to have aroused the remarkable and widespread interest which reached its climax on Thanksgiving Day. The activity of the boosters of the local team—who courted every upstanding resident of the city who readily accepted and followed the leadership of the Rotary boys—stirred interest both here and in DuBois township.

But had the respective teams been less truly representative of their schools, or less disposed to play the game for the sport's sake, or less appreciative of the backing given them by their loyal supporters, the annual battle of these friendly rivals in scholastic sports in Western Pennsylvania.

The more widely the virtues and advantages of Connellsville are proclaimed through the medium of the publicity which comes to a school which has the whole community as its loyal boosters, the better will it be for the city in all that pertains to its progress as a commercial and industrial center.

A live school is about as correct an index of the state of activity and the degree of cooperation among the citizens as can be found. The new stadium ought to be the last and only thing required to qualify C. H. S. as being the liveliest institution of its kind in this part of the state. We have the material out of which to make athletes ttering about Connellsville been benumbed and prodded.

As the individual members of the teams learned to have pride in their respective schools, and have been nurseries in their loyalty to these institutions, and have seen the actual results which come from "team work," in like measure have they learned that the rules they have observed can be applied to playing the bigger and more important game of life in which they will engage after completing their school work.

Given as some hard-shelled, and hard-headed citizens are, to decrying football as a waste of time, energy and money, the fact is being more strikingly demonstrated every year that, as the game was exemplified by D. H. S. and C. H. S. teams throughout the past season, and particularly on Thanksgiving Day, there is no more effective object lesson to the young people of school age in impressing them with the importance and necessity of playing the game of life squarely and fairly, both in their relations as students and later as citizens in the several communities where they shall pursue their respective callings and vocations.

The active participants in Thursday's game and those who were instrumental in making it so pronounced a success in all its features, are therefore deserving of every word of praise that is being uttered in terms of greatest admiration. No less gratifying is the fact that the community spirit and neighborly relationship have been given a new importance and value, the results of which will be far-reaching and will tend in every way to make the people of the Young Valley a unit in working together for the advancement of their mutual interests, progress, and material wellbeing.

To the hearty congratulations C. H. S. extends to D. H. S. the people as a whole add their equally cordial appreciation of the contribution both schools have made to the cause of a better understanding and relationship between adults as well as those of school age in an important section of Fayette county.

PAYS TO BE A GOOD LOSER.

Although the victims of most of the "breaks" which occurred in the Thanksgiving Day game, which their opponents had the resounding fortune to turn to their own advantage, thereby compelling the C. H. S. team to close the season without a single victory to its credit, the team has, after all, made the greatest winning in the history of football in the local high school.

In securing the stadium to be built in James B. Hege Park a prize has been won as the reward of the team's courage through a heart-breaking series of defeats which will turn disappointment into reeling.

When the new playing ground has been equipped as planned football and all outdoor school sports ought to assume no much larger proportions and value than the place C. H. S. has been given on the map by the boosting of the past season will not only become of increasing importance, but also of permanence in its leadership in scholastic sports in Western Pennsylvania.

The more widely the virtues and advantages of Connellsville are proclaimed through the medium of the publicity which comes to a school which has the whole community as its loyal boosters, the better will it be for the city in all that pertains to its progress as a commercial and industrial center.

A live school is about as correct an index of the state of activity and the degree of cooperation among the citizens as can be found. Just Folks

GROWING.

Shoulders broadening out a bit.
Speech a little older too.
Clothes that never seem to fit.
Needling now a stronger shoe
head erect and eyes alight—

These are signs which plainly show
he has done with baby ways.
Now the man begins to grow.

Underneath that youthful brow tiny minds are taking place.
Scuriously he questions now.
There's a new light in his face.

He's growing, but he's not alone.
Many truths he wants to know.

Wondering what lies all about.
Now the man begins to grow.

Self-reliant, clear of ears.

Getting now twice right and twice wrong.

Judging all his playmates by Every Standard of the Strong.

Now he reasons—and 'tis strange

To us both who love him so,
Thus to see our baby change.

As the man begins to grow.

Such a little Ad he seemed.

Only just the other day,

Then the man of which we dreamed

Off we said was far away—

Now we catch it in his talk.

He's growing, but he's not alone.

And we're all in his wake.

Now the man begins to grow.

BAD MEN'S BURIAL PLACE IS MAGNET

Attracts Tourists in Texas Who Leave Regular Routes to Visit "Boot Hill."

Tascosa, Tex., during the past summer many automobile tourists and their wives and families departed from the regular route of travel to visit the famous "Boot Hill" cemetery here, where only men who died with their boots on were buried. While the cattle drovers who once rode across the most notorious town on the Texas-New Mexico frontier have departed the old-time burial ground still remains as a relic of the '70's past.

Tascosa, in Oldham County, has the distinction of being the oldest town in the Texas Panhandle. At one time there were 40 or more counties attached to Oldham county and vinegar men were drawn from a territory larger than most states.

It was in 1875 the town site of Tascosa was laid out and here may yet be seen traces of some of the adobe houses that were built. Shortly after the founding of the town William Hone, better known as "Jolly the Kid," put in his appearance and added terror to the little frontier settlement. With the coming of "Tilly the Kid" a reign of terror began which was only ended when the old-time sheriff of New Mexico brought that notorious gunman's career to an end.

No Late Additions.

Like other western towns of the early days, Tascosa was a place where, when the settlement of a dispute was in order, the men involved took that as their own hands until the formalities of court proceedings. A court trial and different styles of law practice were settled when no men for the trials were available. There was no provision for the population of "Boot Hill" after the conflict. When the fallen ones were buried a board with the last option "This man was killed" was placed at the head of his grave. Most of these boards have fallen a prey. There are not more than fifteen in "Boot Hill" in more than 40 years.

Tascosa was at one time the outfitting post of a great cow country. Ranchers came to Tascosa 200 miles and more to get their supplies and they did not leave without having what they called a "wide time."

Like many another frontier town whose inhabitants were made up for the most part of a hoity-toity crowd of adventurers and outlaws, this old town finally brought in a state of comparative reformation, the placing of a higher value on human life by the Rangers. To their great credit the Ranger force more than any other man brings the light of文明 to the town. They went to Tascosa in 1892. Their economy and orderliness we commonly encounter at that time.

Subdued Bad Men.

Absolutely fearless, Tascosa soon had the bad men of the community subdued. They did not remain long after the cool, deliberate, efficient control of the police. One day, when a cowboy came in from a neighboring ranch and said, "I've much trouble would take him by the ears and his nose that he goes home." Home. The ranger did not wait to hear. He struck him and returned home without saying anything more than that it should stop the man.

After that and his crew of ruffians forming the town in its responsibility, he fled, leaving a widow. He signed from the law office and went into the saloon business at Amarillo with the intent of returning to Tascosa shortly after he was killed shortly after he was by night Police Captain Tom Carter.

Development of Child

Told by Wrist Bones

A horse's teeth tell us how a child's wrist bones tell us his. By means of X-ray prints, physiops can tell how old a child is or more important, whether he is properly developed for his years.

At one year of age a child has two honest in the wrist. At five he has six, at four in his hand. This is just what scientists call an immunological stage. Girls are usually in advance of boys in their amateur development at any given age. So a high authority of the Iowa child welfare research station in Hygeia health magazine published by the American Medical Association.

As the sex, height and weight measurements are concerned, girls are approximately as heavy as boys for their respective heights, but are shorter and lighter at each age. They are more variable in growth than boys.

The authority, a physician, has drawn his conclusions from thousands of repeated physical measurements on nude children and his tables giving the average weight of boys and girls for each inch in height. From those data from five to sixteen are said to be the most accurate tables for American born children.

Odd Forms of "Money" Employed in Africa

There are three modes of buying and selling. The first is to exchange article for article direct. The second is by using a useful medium of exchange which we will call currency. The third is the Western method of using a useless object in exchange, that we will call money.

In South Africa we get the natives using cattle as currency, exchanging cattle for goods and the same cattle changing hands for other goods. More usually however we get butter pote and simple ivory and useful objects to buy beads, trinkets, wire and other goods.

Further north, in the Transvaal, we get actual money in the shape of homemade wire, with a rough knob on the end. Further west, in the Congo we find flat-shaped copper plates used as money. On the Upper Congo we find imitation swords serving the purpose while lower down on the Stanley Falls we find the ax blade (many South African tribes do not use the axe so used). In Stern Levee we get an amusing imitation knife blade one end is thin and twisted the other wide due to two points. The Portuguese and Belgian on the Congo use three bayonets.

Field's Tribute to Riley

Among the finest tributes which one man of genius has paid to another is that of Eugene Field to his friend and brother poet James Whitcomb Riley. He put it in the language of an Indiana villager and the essence of it was this paragraph:

Riley has got true genius, can't tell it anything else. When he was born God give him the tongue of men and of angels and drew in charity for good no extra. "He didn't no Shakespeare, Jason ss about him, nor to Be my Jim is a star highway poet and his pictures are as full of holes and dew as the flower, the human bird plays tag with. In the real sun light of an early summer morning You don't have to have anybody tell you what him means in them poems. He isn't no need of a teacher, he is no disputo'ed poet now. I am all pride myself from the word go on him he's the kind of me son others, heart loves to dance to.

Happiness and Hard Work

Happiness I have discovered is usually a rebound from hard work. It is one of the failings of men to believe that they can order men right or immoral or sentimental. As will try to explain better. If happy souls may be tickled? She loves to see men at work. She loves sweet words, self-sacrifice. She will be found out in palaces, by being in restaurants and factories, and hovering over furnished desks. She loves the man of the world of the busy child. If you look up suddenly from hard work you will see her, but if you look too long she fades sorrowfully away.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

"My baking's used to be a matter of 'hit or miss'—sometimes they were successful; then again a total failure, no matter how hard I tried. But that was before a friend persuaded me to try Calumet. Now I know what the result will be—what to expect every time—perfectly raised, uniformly baked foods. Baking day is really a delight."

Baking Powder plays an important part in the success or failure of your baking. The great American housewives all realize this. They have found by experience that a better leavener is not, and cannot be made—that for nutritious and wholesome foods it has no equal.

Calumet is made in the World's largest baking powder factories; human hands never touch it.

Clothes and How Some Women Dress

Many insist on having ample supply and best of materials.

There are those who say that dress is an important factor in a woman's life, observes a writer in the Kansas City Star, and who make a study of the matter for that reason. There are others who firmly declare that they "haven't got it" and pursue the pleasure fervently. Again, there are some who inexplicably indulge in the vaults of this clothing as if it were a secret, so far as anyone what you will, that is terribly bad deportment.

An important factor in a woman's life does have many aspects. To a woman who is socially ambitious, whether married or not, dress is certainly a factor but she makes a mistake if she lets it be known that she thinks too seriously about it. She may, if she be endowed with subtlety, perceive those who do not pay her bills that she dresses for "almost nothing" and those who do pay them may be generous enough not to give her money. It is no use denying that clothes cost a lot of money in these days, when they are well made and in the right sort of materials. Cheap clothes cannot look right in the fashionable woman's eyes. One "good black dress" will no longer carry a woman triumphantly through the season. One simple muslin frock does not win a husband with millions or a great name for a debuteante, says Bee. The modern woman and girl must have enough of everything, and that the best, if they are to hold their own with the "world's best dressed women," and that is what they all seem to aim at.

If a woman is working, she is well obliged to be presentable in her clothes. She need not be fashionable, but she must have a style of her own, and that style should be good, and she may not have enough wisdom to get one without working for it. Many a woman has lost a good post by being badly dressed up. She may have been good at dressing, too, with or without the added money on dress. The working woman may not give way to folly in fashion. She must follow where fashion leads, but at a distance. Particularly should she embrace a taste for definite personal style, which can have individuality, but not eccentricity. In the world, she may be an any other needs to know just what she does very often the same person. In the present of many styles running the risk of being called a "fashionable." A lady doctor was described as "decidedly world-beating." In speaking now in her practice, A. Pasta should not desecrate the sanctity of her robes by a frivolity too apparent. A lady gardener may not be over-skeptical in her uniformed workers.

The world seems to fashion and the fatten is easy to deal with. The first lesson to follow and skip here is little there is a better chance in the law of her lot.

4,000 Balls in Reservoir

Finds Vast Coal Deposits in Alaskan Wastes

Seattle, Wash.—Discovery of vast deposits of coal in the unexplored wastes of Alaska, far within the Arctic circle, was reported by Dr. Philip S. Smith of Washington, D. C., of the United States geological survey, who returned here with a party of seven after an extensive exploration trip in the territory.

"The foothills and great valleys just north of the Endicott range, which forms the divide between the Yukon river and the Arctic ocean, contain some of the greatest bodies of coal on the continent," said Doctor Smith. "It is further proof that Alaska, in past ages, had a temperate, if not a subtropical, climate. At present there is no vegetation in that region suitable for forming coal."

The country surveyed is included in the United States navy petroleum reserve No. 4, which embraces a territory about the size of New York state.

Sleeves and Neckline in Fashion Limelight

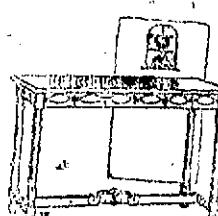

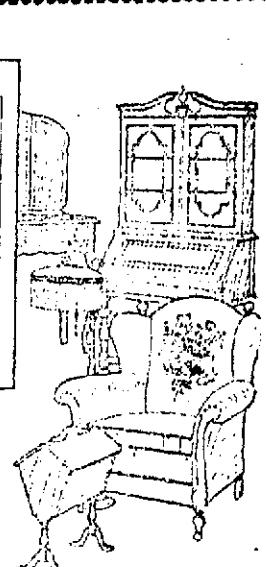

The typical full neckline is decidedly high. This effect is achieved through high collars, which may be attached or separate, through the scarf, and by means of the fob. A very effective trimming is the soft, high collar which is turned down over a small lining.

The long sleeve is a definite and essential factor in afternoon dresses. The plain, flattening variety in the most frequent date, though there are other and less severe types, which are also neoplastic. The cuff is often made in an opposing color or of a contrasting material. In general the long, slender effect is invariably desired in street and afternoon dresses for fall and winter.

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE
When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "Horizontally" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square, i.e., to the right of a number. In this case, define a word which will fit into the white spaces in the next block one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

CROSS-WORD PUZZLE No. 1
"STEPPING STONES"

If you like them easy this one will suit you, for the interlock helps you over the stickers. If you're in the expert class you can find an unusual word or two. This puzzle contains every letter in the alphabet except "W".

1—Mohammedan call to prayer
2—Patent
3—Large vehicle
4—By way of
5—South American reptile

Fitting Children in Gloves They Will Like

Whether you have a small son, just starting to school, or a daughter who considers herself almost "a young lady," your problems in gloving children hands are quite specialized ones, notes a writer in the Kansas City Star. For there are many points to be considered in selecting children's gloves which do not apply when you buy your own.

You sometimes will find children's gloves in the regular department, where special counters and chairs for children are provided. Usually, however, you will go to the children's or junior department for them. Children's sizes run from 0000 to 7. And since the child's hand is growing, and since it needs more freedom, anyway, than a grown-up's hand does, the glove should not be fitted too tightly.

You will have no difficulty in finding almost any material, style and color of glove you want, for the making of children's gloves has become a specialized phase of the glove industry. In general, the little girl's plump hand will be best fitted and most comfortable in the softest and finest leather.

Some new and popular types are made of cloth, silk, satin and leather. Light leather such as the genuine tan for women's gloves.

There are mittens, both of knitted stuff and of leather, which are especially appropriate for the younger children. The older boy and girl often like them, too, for sports wear, since other things hold equal, they are much warmer than gloves. They are not, of course, as soft, and to dress wear, at least for the older children.

HOW TO DROP OFF

A man called upon his medical adviser and said, "Doctor, I can't get to sleep at night."

"What do you need the patient?" asked the doctor.
"I need a warm and moist of comfortable shirt," declared the doctor.
"You think you are hopelessly wretched, but medical advice has a great deal to do with getting you to sleep. Just imagine you are walking a tight rope 1,000 feet from the ground. Step to step you advance on this tight rope."

With the patient required,

you'll have drop off."

Production Approaches Close to 100,000 Tons As Both Interests Gain Contributed In More Nearly Equal Proportions to the Increase.

REFLECTS IMPROVEMENT

Which Is in Progress With Signs of Still Larger Growth to Come With The End of the Year; More Ovens In and Region on Better Schedule.

From The Weekly Courier.
With both coke producing interests feeling the necessity to enlarge their production they joined last week in almost equal effort in advancing the regional output to within a very short distance of 100,000 tons and to the highest point attained on the present upward movement, now entering the 15th consecutive week.

Until last week there had been almost an entire absence of "team work" between the producing groups, the furnace group having fired more frequently than its merchant teammate to make it a case of "pulling together." Last week, however, they came into much closer step than for several weeks. The increase of 7,540 tons in the weekly total was contributed in fairly even proportions, the share of the furnace ovens having been 3,100 and of the furnace ovens, 4,440 tons.

The forcing ahead of the region is in no sense spectacular. The total gain last week was only very moderate and had been exceeded several times since the upward trend began. On the whole the growth in tonnages is the natural consequence of improving conditions in the coke trade and is also a very accurate measure of the rate at which improvement is taking place. That this expansion is to be progressive there is at present no doubt. In fact, evidences are accumulating that it is now merely in the first stages, the greater enlargement being expected at the close of the old and the beginning of the new year when contracts for the first quarter will make necessary the blowing up of many additional plants and ovens.

The present accentuation of activity has been in progress but two weeks during which the number of ovens in blast has increased to 7,651, a gain of 566, and production has grown from 56,720 to 60,010 tons, a gain of 12,290 tons. The major gains in both ovens and tonnages have taken place at the furnace plants, the H. C. Frick Coke Company having fired up 701 ovens, and increased output 11,500 tons. The merchants have added 166 ovens but their net gain has been only 820 tons, the week of November 13 having shown a recession of 3,320 tons by this interest.

This loss was more than recouped last week when the merchant producers went on a full six-day schedule with only very few exceptions and also fired up 123 more ovens. The Frick company observed the same order of operation while also re-lighting 220 ovens which included a plant which has not been in commission since early in the spring.

With both furnace and merchant plants now running on a more regular schedule, and both making their active oven quota larger, continued increase in output can be expected but, as noted, the nearest approach to normal will not come until the region begins to prepare for taking care of 1925 contracts and the additional spot business which there is every reason to anticipate will become more of a factor after January 1 than it is at this time.

The estimated production of coke during the week ended Saturday, November 22, was 99,040 tons divided between the two districts as follows: Connellsville, 42,140, an increase of 3,640 tons; Lower Connellsville, 66,890, an increase of 3,900 tons, or a total increase of 7,540 tons as compared with a net increase of 4,780 tons during the preceding week.

By interests the production was: Furnace, 28,000, a gain of 3,400 tons; merchant, 61,040, a gain of 4,340 tons, as compared with a gain of 8,100 and

At Grid Game.

Never before in the history of the town has such a delegation attended a football game in a body as did yesterday afternoon when the Dunbar Township and Connellsville teams battled for supremacy on the gridiron at Fayette Field. More than 40 automobiles were present from here and close to 500 persons found their way to the "battlefield."

Five Hundred League.

The Civics and Regular clubs in the Five Hundred League will battle this evening. The teams will fight for first place in the tourney. The latter club is leading with three wins and two defeats while the Civics has won and tied twice. The Legion is the cellar team and will not get into action until next week.

Another School Month.

Another month of school came to a close this week, marking the third of the nine months' term. The attendance is improving daily according to the school officials.

Has Chicken-Pox.

Bobby Burns, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns of Greenfield street, is confined to his bed with chicken-pox. The lad is slowly recovering.

Kansas Visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dunlap and daughter Rhoda, of Leoti, Kansas, are visiting with the former's brothers, Edward and Charles Dunlap of Liberty. Mr. Dunlap made his home here about 20 years ago and is anticipating residing here again.

Selling Xmas Seals.

The borough school pupils are busy selling Christmas Seals. This is an annual event for the school "kiddies" who sell about 5,000 each year. The school teachers urge the populace to purchase the seals from them.

On Dunbar's Team.

The Young Valley was well represented in the game yesterday. Seven from this district played in the game. Landimore, captain and center, of Dawson, scored the first touchdown while Zeke, of Vanderbilt, who played right half and fullback, made the other. Smith, right half; Shallenberger, left half; Horron, right end; Isaac, right tackle; Senor, center, were local men who took part in the game.

No Bowling Match.

At the Theatres

The Paramount

"RIDIN' MAD"—Presenting Yakima Canutt, the world's champion cowboy in the stellar role, provides splendid entertainment today and tomorrow at the Paramount.

The first scene is shot at the real Texas rodeo, where Canutt was defending his title—"World's Champion Cowboy," and that boy sure can ride—he doesn't climb into the saddle—he slides into it. His riding isn't limited to horses, either—no steer has been able to down him.

The thrills in this picture make even the most hard-boiled fans forget their gun and open their mouths.

Wilbur McGaugh—famous screen villain—plays the heavy remarkably well and has the audience hating him heartily, while Helen Rosson, as Canutt's sister, and Lorraine

This picture has been a sensation of the year.

The Soisson

"PAINTED PEOPLE," with Colleen Moore in a delightful role, is the leading attraction today and tomorrow at the Soisson.

"Painted People," which is based on Richard Connell's Collier's Weekly story, "The Swamp Angel," deals with the adventures of a boy and a girl who are entreated by the visions of "itch life" afforded them by the residents living on the "other side of the tracks" in their town, and who deliberately set out to gain admission to the sacred prostitutes.

One of the many laughable episodes in the production centers about the efforts of the two to break into society. One day they received the coveted invitations—but the stunning realization comes to them that they do not possess the proper clothing for the affair—or the knowledge as to the exact way in which to deport themselves.

They conceive the brilliant idea of purchasing a book on etiquette, but they fail to notice that the book had been published half a century before, and that the contents were hopelessly out-of-date. As a result they create quite a sensation at the party.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday "Galloping Fish," starring Louise Fazenda and Sidney Chaplin will be shown.

The Orpheum

"MANHANDLED," the feature picture today and Saturday at the Orpheum, is a Paramount picture with Gloria Swanson in the leading role.

"Manhandled" deals with the problems of life in New York as the shop girl finds them, and Miss Swanson, in the role of Tessie McLean, runs the whole gamut of emotion, trying the white lights of Broadway, taking a whirl at being a sculptor's model, spending some time posing in a modiste shop—all for the love of one clothes and a so-called good time. But she learns in the end that the honest love of Johnny Hogan, a hard-working auto mechanic, is far better than the temporary luxuries showered upon her by sculptors, department store owners, modistes and cigarette manufacturers.

Once more our Glorious Gloria proves that she can do more than just wear clothes well. Not only does she display the flashing dramatic ability that so surprised and delighted her admirers in her previous productions, but in "Manhandled" she blossoms out in a comedienne of the first rank. One of the especially clever bits of comedy imitation you don't see in the picture is an impersonation of the Russian countess. She puts a Chaplin touch into this scene that undoubtedly adds new laurels to her screen interpretation.

"THE BIRTH OF A NATION"—Original production here, D. W. Griffith's epoch-making spectacle "The Birth of A Nation," a United Artists release, following its record-breaking return to New York, is being shown at the Arcadia Theatre this week.

This work from the nature of the new art it established has excited keener curiosity than any other offering of a drama and never being away for several years it was recently presented for a special engagement at the enormous Capitol Theatre and played to over 150,000 people in two weeks.

"The Birth of A Nation" tells by film and music the story of a nation re-born through the storms and stress of inter-clan strife. Instead of the four to six scenes of the conventional plays, its technique permits of fitting literally thousands of scenes and covering a wide range of history and characters. Slavery, the primal cause of the war; Lincoln's call for troops to subdue the Southern States; the fall on the eve of Bull Run, and the first triumph of Confederacy; the devastation wrought by Sherman's march and the awful ordeal of the Siege of Petersburg; Lee's surrender to Grant at Appomattox; the reconstruction of the South; the Ku Klux Klan and the overthrow of the carpet-bagger regime; these great factors and events pass in review before the thrilled spectator.

The love interest of the play is based on the friendship between the Cullumans of South Carolina and the Stonemans of Pennsylvania, two families involved in the struggle.

"THE TEN COMMANDMENTS"—The biggest edifice ever built for a picture and the largest working company ever taken on location, marked the making of the Biblical story in the first part of Cecil B. DeMille's production, "The Ten Commandments," which will be shown at the State Theatre, Uniontown, three days, starting Monday, December 1, with two performances daily.

"The Birth OF A Nation"

A Motion Picture that, because of its magnificence still has the POWER to draw millions of Americans into the theatres to feel again the thrill of its message and to be swept once more into the compelling tide of its most beautiful love story, has something so TREMENDOUS in it that it COMPELS attention.

The rush of its swiftly moving tale, its historical accuracy, the magnificence of its battle scenes, the sheer drama of its depiction of the great political struggle of modern times makes it the

COPYRIGHT BY THE CENTURY CO.

I am a child who is always trying to be good and I am a good child. But this morning we drop the subject. We have no room to talk about it in the house, and personally I don't believe we have anything to fear from outside. But you still do, don't you? And now we are suspicious. And I don't think it's safe to let him out. He broke out with a grumble. It's safe like nothing else I know. If he does it again we'll just have to stop him.

Very well sir. But understand me that nothing unusual has ever happened in the house. I am going to tell you about it. I am right.

"Yes—I think so. I can't see how anything could be understood. I do not mind more to talk, but I suppose he does pass through."

He stopped. He went up to the top of the desk, turned the small key that held it in place, and quietly unlocked his mail. It was good to have work to do, and I knew he would do it.

"I will suppose you are right," he said. "I am going to say something now, though. You know what I mean."

"I will suppose you are right," he said. "I am going to say something now, though. You know what I mean."
